In light of the 8/28/06 amendments, the 3/26/06 final Office action had been overcome. However, upon updating the search two new references were discovered that warrant consideration.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 11-20 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-29 of U.S. Patent No. 7,094,354. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the patent claims a sample receiving chamber in fluid connection with a distributor channel, reaction chamber and vent. The instant claims require "at least one" of the claimed structures and in the condition of a single structure the single vent would be connected to a single channel that has been read on the claimed "venting collection channel".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 11-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Hillman et al. (USP 4,963,498).

Hillman et al. teach in figure 2a a device(50) with a receiving chamber(58), a reaction chamber(60). Capillary channel(66) connects the receiving chamber(58) to the reaction chamber(60). Vent(72) is connected to the reaction chamber by channel(76).

The claimed "sample receiving chamber" has been read on the taught chamber(58). The claimed "distributor channel" has been read on the taught channel(66). The claimed "reaction chamber" has been read on the taught chamber(60). The claimed "vent opening for each has a connecting channel extending therefrom" has been read on the taught vent(72) and channel(76).

Allowable Subject Matter
